

Missing Christmas letter, 2022

Just kidding! I don't have a Christmas letter for 2022.

First, let me tell you why I even noticed this.

I am the kind of person who writes a Christmas letter every year. They are usually included in our Christmas card mailings. Some of our friends get a letter and some do not. That is a complicated subject, and I don't want to talk about that right now.

I was doing a major overhaul of my website, joeobrin.com. I was looking for stuff to put on there which was oriented toward our family. Debbie suggested including our Christmas letters from years past on there.

It was a good idea. Now I did not have the word processing files for anything before 2010. Well, I probably do, but I'm not sure where, and their format may not be available to me anymore.

No big deal, I can go ahead and post what I have. Now starting with 2010 I have letters all the way up until last year. Except, for some reason, the year 2022 is missing. I do not have word processing source for it, so, it is missing from this webpage.

Why bother? Well, I like to be consistent. And, it gives me an excuse to post a little explanation of the Christmas letter concept. So, that is what takes the place of the letter for your 2022.

Except for 2022, every letter from every year is here. That starts at 2010, and goes at least two 2025. I really like this idea, and will probably post future letters here. So that is what this is about, and that is why 2022 is the missing year.
